I AM A NIGHTMARE
PLEASE DO NOT ENGAGE WITH ME FOR I TEND TO CREATE DELUSIONAL
IDEALISTIC FANTASIES
WHERE EVERYONE IS ON FIRE AND I AM

DEAD

I EXIST

I DO NOT

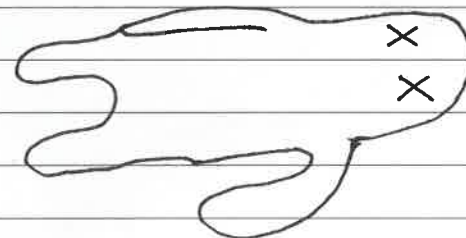

I AM UNFAMILIAR

I CAN SEE THE
FUTURE AND THE PAST BUT I CANNOT SEE

IF I AM HAPPY

I FOLLOW THE TRAIL INTO THE WOODS WHERE I AM NOT REMINDED OF THE HORRIFIC
ATROCITIES THAT WE COMMIT EVERY WAKING HOUR.
AND THEN

I AM.

THE END.

WHY WRITE A DYSTOPIAN NOVEL, WHEN WE ARE ALREADY LIVING IN ONE?

title

I am skin loosely draped over bones. If you peel off my skin, and rip off the curtain preventing the light from coming in, you will see my bones disintegrate into a fine dust. This is because much like a vampire, I am allergic to the light. I hold my sheet of skin over myself like wrapping paper covers a gift, or as one would wear a poncho to block out the rain. However unwrapping this gift would surely be a difficult task. And as for rain, when rain soaks my skin, it can make it a bit translucent, allowing you to take a closer look at my bones. They are held together by Elmers Glue and Scotch Tape and string so fine it may as well be impercibleable to the human eye, but you can see it. The string is painted with a brush finer than a needle point, and painted thinly on this tiny string are all the thoughts I've ever thought. This story is written on there somewhere, and so is a better one. Although, you'll never read it. Unless perhaps <sup>on a rainy day</sup> however unlikely, you closely examine this quite fine string, tying together my bones, covered in my thick skin coat.

I IMAGINE ALL THE AMAZING THINGS I COULD WRITE OR DRAW, BUT I DON'T.

I JUST STARE, UNTIL I THINK OF SOME STUPID OR SATIRICAL OR WITTY REMARK
SUCH AS THIS.

I GOT IT DOWN, OR I DON'T.

THEN I CLOSE THE BOOK
OR CRUMPLE THE PAGE
AND FORGET THAT EVER HAPPENED.
